

Tube Activities
By
Kit Harvey

I mounted a 4 foot piece of plexiglass onto the wall for the infant toddlers and preschoolers to put things into it, track it down, and catch. Great social interaction too. We can plug it up, fill it up, and take out the plug and let it all slide out into the bucket or into someone's lap. I also have a free standing piece that I can take to my offsites.

Skills: Put in; stretch; hand-eye coordination; tracking; taking turns with friends; one puts in and the other catches; fill up tube and empty tube; carrying buckets with balls to each end; problem solving for older preschoolers; koosh balls and spider balls make a nice sound when going down the tube; the ideas are endless.

